AHIMA

Healthcare

The AHIMA Foundation (AHIMAF) and its partners, including American Medical Informatics Association (AMIA), American Hospital Association (AHA), and the National Center for Healthcare Leadership (NCHL) have joined together to form the Healthcare Workforce Consortium (HWC). HWC represents over 350,000 healthcare workers, 5,000 hospital and provider organizations, 25,000 students, and 400 colleges and universities. HWC partners convene over 400 meetings and webinars annually for healthcare professionals. Together these partners will serve as intermediaries in efforts to promote Registered Apprenticeship across targeted healthcare professions. Activities to be achieved include: Develop a career matrix/map to build a solid foundation of structured career pathways leading to accelerated adoption of Registered Apprenticeship as a viable talent acquisition strategy; Gather stakeholders (e.g., industry, academia, labor union, and governmental partners) to raise awareness and increase adoption of Registered Apprenticeships; Establish a scaled "outcome-based" employer incentive program based on the total apprentice hiring commitment. These efforts will result in the establishment of 10 new local Registered Apprenticeship programs annually; recruitment of 200 new Registered Apprentices; development of two new National Guideline Standards per year for Registered Apprenticeship occupations in healthcare.
