Healthcare Career Advancement Program (H-CAP)

Healthcare

The Healthcare Career Advancement Program (H-CAP) is a national labor/management organization that promotes innovation and quality in healthcare career education. H-CAP will create career pathways through opportunities for entry-level apprentices to advance into a series of higher paying and higher skilled apprenticeable occupations. H-CAP will work to advance apprenticeships that elevate Community Health Workers from a certificate, to an Associate's Degree, to a Bachelors of Social Work and other occupations. Project will build relationships with the disability community and veterans organizations to support these populations' access to healthcare apprenticeships. H-CAP and their affiliates are also engaging colleges around the country, including City University of New York, Seattle College District, and Utah's Western Governors University, to support and facilitate alignment, develop new systems to provide credit for prior learning and articulation across colleges and programs. These efforts will also include collaboration with the Registered Apprenticeship-College Consortium (RACC) as well as local partners who will become part of the RACC. Partners include CareerSTAT/National Fund for Workforce Solutions, SEIU 775 Training Partnership, District 1199C Training and Upgrading Fund, 1199SEIU Training and Employment Funds, SEIU Local 2015, and the SEIU UHW-West & Joint Employer Education Fund.
